At the Annual Meeting of "The Contributors to the Pennsylvania Hospital," held Fifth month 3d, 1875, the Hon. Morton McMichael, having been called to the chair, made the following remarks :—

"At these Annual Meetings it is, I know, neither expected nor desired that the presiding officer should make any comments, except such as may grow out of the business to be transacted. Without infringing this wholesome custom, I am impelled to say that, in these days, when loose and irregular administration of public affairs is unfortunately too common, it is to me, as it must be to every one who feels a proper pride in the reputation of our city, a source of gratification that, in all the lengthened history of the Pennsylvania Hospital—which has dispensed its blessings and its bounties for more than a century—no shadow of suspicion or doubt has ever fallen upon those who have had control of its affairs. From the beginning until now, its Managers—the dead, as well as the living—have brought to its service a patient, persevering, faithful, intelligent, and unselfish devotion, the fruits of which are seen in the widespread good it has always accomplished. Selected, as they have invariably been, from among the best and purest citizens, with no personal interests to promote, no private ends to secure, they have given their hands, their hearts, their minds, to the work in which they were engaged, asking for no recompense beyond the knowledge that they were alleviating the sufferings of their fellow-creatures; seeking no reward, except the approval of their own consciences. And, looking back over the blameless record of the past, who can doubt that, so long as its direction is confided to the same class as at present and heretofore, this venerable Institution will furnish an example of disinterested zeal and unblemished integrity that others may profitably imitate?"

FREE BEDS.

A contribution of $5000 to the Permanent Fund of the Hospital will endow a Free Bed in the Pine Street Hospital, to be named, unless otherwise directed, after the donor.

ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE CONTRIBUTORS TO THE PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

The work performed in the Pennsylvania Hospital is placed under the control of two Departments. The first, the Pine Street Hospital, is devoted to the relief of medical and surgical patients; and the second, the Hospital in West Philadelphia, devoted to the cure of those languishing under mental disease or infirmity.

The detail of the affairs of the Pine Street Hospital we first present to your notice.

The number of patients remaining in the Hospital at the time of the last annual report was . .	158
The number admitted during the past year . .	1,816
Total number treated	1,974
The number discharged, cured or relieved . .	1,664
Of these, the number of "Recent Accidents," or patients suffering from sudden injuries to the body, admitted into the Hospital within 24 hours after the occurrence of the calamities, was	654
The average number of patients in the Pine Street Hospital for every day in the year was . .	161⅘

The receipts and payments of the Hospital on Pine Street have been as follows:—

Receipts.

Income from the Endowment Fund of the Hospital, and other sources, to 4th mo. 23, 1875 .	$47,375 45
Received by the Steward, viz., payments made by patients, contributions, &c. &c. . . .	12,425 92
Total receipts for the year	$59,801 37

PAYMENTS.

Expenditures by Steward of cash received from Treasurer, for the maintenance of the Hospital for the Sick in all its branches, all salaries and repairs	$53,400 00
Expenditure in like manner of other funds paid directly to the Steward	12,041 17
Total payments for the year for the Hospital for the Sick	$65,441 17
The excess of expenditure of the Hospital for the Sick over all income of the Endowment Fund, and its own receipts is	5,639 80
The excess of expenditure over receipts for all Departments, including the Hospitals for the Insane in West Philadelphia, was	23,201 29
There has been expended upon those treated without charge, in the Pine Street Hospital, the sum of	46,360 20

In addition to the work of relief performed in the Hospital proper, the branch of the Hospital for the Sick, known as the Department for Out-patients, exhibits very gratifying results.

The number of medical cases was	619
The number of visits was	1,204
The number of surgical cases was	1,854
The number of visits was	9,750

The design of the Out-patient Department was to relieve the wards of the Hospital of the patients who were sufficiently convalescent to return to their homes, requiring only occasional visits for remedial treatment, and also to extend relief to the sick and hurt poor, whom it was not expedient to admit into the Hospital wards.

The growth of this Department clearly exhibits the necessity of more accommodation. The waiting rooms for both classes of patients are found to be inadequate for the purpose—the examination of cases requiring privacy and facilities for treating patients suffering from injuries to the eye and ear, will render additional apartments indispensable, which the Board of Managers hope to be able to afford at a future day.

The usual courses of lectures, with clinical instruction, have been given in the proper season, and a class of 50 women has also profited by separate clinical teaching in the wards of the Hospital.

During the past year the following bequests, contributions, and gifts have been announced to the Board of Managers.

Pa. Hospital for the Insane, Female Department	10,000 00
" " " Sick, located on Pine Street	10,000 00

The will of HENRY S. STOUT also contains a bequest of $10,000, to be paid in 2d mo. 1876; $5,000 to extend and improve the accommodations for the insane, and $5,000 to the Hospital for the Sick (the sum to be paid in Allegheny County Bonds), and a separate ward in the Hospital for the Insane, to be called "STOUT'S WARD;" also, after the death of an annuitant, the principal of the annuity, viz., $15,000 to the Pennsylvania Hospital, one-half to the Hospital for the Insane, and the other to the Hospital for the Sick.

A conveyance has also been made to the Contributors of teh Pennsylvania Hospital by I. V. WILLIAMSON, dated Jan. 1, 1875, of half of a triangular piece of ground at the east corner of Frankford Road and Cambria Street, 712 feet 2 inches on Cambria Street; thence to Frankford Road, 705 feet 9 inches; and thence along Frankford Road 96 feet, to the place of beginning. The same conveyance also includes the half part of twenty acres adjoining, the condition of these gifts being "In trust, to appropriate half the net income exclusively for the establishment and support of free beds in the Pennsylvania Hospital, and the other half exclusively for the establishment and support of free beds in the Department for the Insane, located in West Philadelphia." The value of this gift it is difficult to estimate; but among the many munificent endowments which have enabled your Hospital to minister directly to the need of the wounded and afflicted, it may well be ranked as one of the grandest.

An effort has been made to render the coal lands, belonging to the estate of W. WALLACE COOK, productive, in which the Hospital and the Institution for the Instruction of the Blind have a joint interest, under a lease, carefully prepared by counsel, to the Mineral Spring Coal Co. of Scranton, Pa., conditioned on the payment of a royalty of 35 cents per ton for lump and prepared coal, with the usual stipulations for smaller sizes in the 1st, 4th, 7th, and 10th months (January, April, July, and October) of each year.

A gift of four volumes for the Medical Library has been received from JAMES J. BARCLAY.

An extensive and valuable collection of calculi has been deposited in the Pathological Museum by Dr. THOS. G. MORTON. Forty-five specimens of an interesting character have been added by the Pathologist, and a number are in course of preparation. Lectures on Pathological Anatomy—the only ones in the city—have been reglarly delivered in the Library, illustrated by specimens from the Museum.

The Board have appropriated $150 in aid of the meritorious labors of the Committee of Ladies who have benevolently visited the suffering patients, with the view of ministering to their mental and spiritual comfort.

IMPROVEMENTS.

The improvements in your Hospital during the past year have involved a very large expenditure, undertaken with the desire to remedy all deficiencies, and to give to the management of the Hospital every good characteristic which thorough sanitary vigilance may require.

In the Male Department the windows in the wash-rooms have been enlarged, to admit more light and air. New marble basins, with hot and cold water, have been added; new receivers of iron, lined with porcelain, with traps and larger pipes, have been placed in the water-closets, with an increased flow of water for drainage. Bath-rooms have been rearranged, and basins, with marble or slate tops placed throughout the wards. In the basement a large coil of pipe, heated by steam, has been placed at the lowest part of the main ventilating chimney, to insure the more effectual rarefaction of the air. Two new bath-rooms have been placed in the Female Department, and all closets, clothes rooms, chambers, kitchens, wards, and halls, after being carefully cleansed, have received several coats of paint; all bath-rooms arranged with larger drainage and increased supply of water, and the floors laid of slate. Stationary wash-tubs have been added in the basement. New iron bedsteads of improved construction have been introduced. The same improvements, with new slate flooring, have been made in the middle building. Refrigerators have been placed in all the ward dining-rooms. In the Receiving Ward a new bath-tub, washstand, and clothing closet have been supplied. Slate tables have been placed in the dead-house, which has also been partially repainted.

The Out-patient Rooms, with the North House, their roofs and water supply have connections for drainage with the sewers. The kitchens have also been renewed, sinks, and hot and cold water introduced. The Lodge has been painted, and an iron guard rail placed to separate the out-patient rooms and their visitors from the interior grounds of the Hospital.

It has been the intention of the Board to comply, to the extreme point, with all the requirements pertaining to good hospital government which modern scientific experience demands; they have reason to think that the present condition of your building will favorably compare with the best institutions, permanent or temporary, known to the medical world.

A recent examination by Dr. Thomas G. Morton into cases of mortality following amputations performed at the Pennsylvania Hospital during 25 years, published in the American Journal of Medical Sciences for April, 1875, shows that, in 30,174 surgical cases treated, there was a mortality of but $6\frac{3}{4}$ per cent., and in this mortality was included all deaths from hemorrhage, exhaustion, grave, compound, and other fractures, all manner of surgical operations, erysipelas, and pyæmia. Of the last-named disease, not a single case has appeared in the Hospital during the last six months.

It is hoped that by improved ventilation, even more favorable results may be attained; and, to this end, the Board have sought the advice of experienced constructors of buildings, where forced ventilation by fans and flues for heated air have proved successful.

The greatest French authority on ventilation—Gen. Morin—has given the opinion (see Wilson's Hygiene, page 207) that "it is necessary not to descend below 880 cubic feet of space for each individual, besides the condition of renewing the air in the proportion of 1060 cubic feet per individual per hour," in order to remove any possibility of infection, and to preserve the proper adjustment of pure air. This large requirement is more than complied with in your Pine Street Hospital. The surgical wards, when filled, allow a cubical space of upwards of 1000 cubic feet for each occupant, after deducting the space appropriated by pillars, flues, &c. &c., and no other room has a capacity less than 900 cubic feet for each person allotted to it, leaving the subject of ventilation the chief measure of precaution, which needs the careful attention of your Board.

In the 5th month (May), 1874, a hygienic officer was appointed, whose duty is to inspect all parts of the building, with the view to promote the health and comfort of its inmates; to critically examine every ward daily; to inspect beds, closets, bath-rooms, kitchens, outbuildings and grounds, noting his remarks in a book kept for the purpose, to be submitted to the attending Managers at their weekly visits. It is believed that beneficial results have followed the introduction of this system.

An Assistant Matron has also been appointed to superintend dietetic arrangements; to note the proper temperature of the wards, and to see that cleanliness of bedding, furniture, and clothing, absence of impurities and offensive odors is at all times maintained.

Jacob K. Hecker, the apothecary, has resigned his position, after 4 years and 3 months of able and attentive service, and Charles Wirgman has been duly elected to fill the vacancy.

It has been suggested by a member of the Surgical Staff that the city authorities should supply ambulances for the removal of the hurt and sick to places of relief and cure, the charge of which should be intrusted to the Fire Department. There is no class of men to whom the care of the hurt more directly appeals than those to whom the incidents connected with the outbreak of a conflagration are familiar; the experience of their noble occupation brings them in direct contact with helpless sufferers from recent accidents, and the perils to which they are exposed not unfrequently include their members in the number of those requiring immediate surgical aid. The construction of five or six ambulances, in charge of the Fire Department, placed in different sections of the city, with orders to remove cases of recent accidents to the nearest hospital, would be a boon of mercy to the suddenly afflicted rich and poor; which humanity may well demand of the City Fathers. The approach of a year of historic events renders it proper at this time to bring the subject before the public, in the hope that a need so urgently felt may be early supplied.

The incidents of the explosion of fireworks 3d mo. (March) 29, 1862, by which 28 persons, males and females, were badly burnt; 13 persons injured by falling walls on the 19th of 6th mo. (June) 1867; 9 girls burnt at a theatre on the 14th 9th mo. (Sept.), 1861; the North Pennsylvania Railroad accident, and an average of ten persons sent to the Hospital on every 4th of 7th mo. (July), are cases of necessity in the past, admonitory of an omission in our municipal system, which tenderness for the helpless should provide the means of remedying in the future.

The Board have authorized the opening of the wall on Spruce Street, adjoining the building now occupied by the Historical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, provided it can be done without expense to the Hospital. This portion of the Hospital square was given to the Contributors to the Pennsylvania Hospital by the sons of William Penn, by patent, dated Nov. 10, 1767. The lot thus granted completed the square, and was 107 feet north and south, by 396 feet on Spruce Street.

The Managers of the Hospital had previously, in the year 1754, bought the lot on Pine Street, 396 feet east and west between 8th and 9th Streets, and 366 feet north and south to the lot given by the sons of William Penn, paying for it £500 Pennsylvania currency, when the £ was worth about $2.66\frac{2}{3}$ currency. The whole contents of the square thus acquired by gift and purchase were about $4\frac{1}{4}$ acres.

In presenting to you any comments upon the Hospital for the Insane, under the charge of Dr. Thomas S. Kirkbride, it is proper to say that the able and exhaustive report of the Doctor on the 1st of 1st mo. 1875, fully places before you all the particulars of its admirable condition, to which it is scarcely possible to add.

The total number of patients in both the Male and Female Department during the past year was .	664
The number admitted was	248
The number discharged was	248
The number remaining is	416

Of those discharged cured and improved, 56 were under treatment in your Hospital but 3 months, and 135 less than one year.

This confirms what has often been called to your notice, of the great importance of early treatment of cases of mental disease, which we are happy to see confirmed in the Report of the Board of Public Charities for the past year, page 225, where it is declared that, "Under the best hospital care 75 cases out of every 100 who have not been insane three months, are cured within six months of their admission."

It must be remembered that in the cases above reported from your Hospital, the duration of disease previous to the application for the benefit of treatment, was uncertain; in some instances not until after all means of cure available in private families had been tried and exhausted.

The unhappy consequences of tardiness in seeking the freedom enjoyed, and the proper restorative measures of well-governed institutions have been so recognized in other governments, that it has been proposed to require the prompt removal of the insane to hospitals of merit, under legal penalties. Within a few months past a case of private incarceration, within 100 miles of our two largest cities, has attracted the attention of the public press, which we only note as exhibiting a degree of ignorance on this subject which could scarcely be supposed possible in the present century.

During the past year the system of lectures, exhibitions, and evening entertainments in both Departments, Male and Female, in which numbers participate, has been steadily adhered to; at one house without the intermission of a single evening. The liberal supply of books and papers, and out-door occupation, in fine weather, furnish gentle and pleasurable amusements to all patients, in which restraint can hardly be said to exist. The Cricket ground at the Male Department, and the Croquet lawn at the Female, frequently present spectacles of cheerful enjoyment which a looker-on would reconcile with difficulty with evident mental disease.

An important improvement has been made in the introduction of telegraphic wires and instruments in both the Male and Female Hospitals, which has been found of great convenience in communicating with the city, and also affording immediate direct connection with all parts of the country reached by the wires of the Telegraph Company.

765 feet of water pipe have been laid on Market Street, and $12,054 45 paid for culverting, paving, curbing, and improving on Market Street, east of 49th Street.

A culvert on 42d Street, to be constructed under the supervision of the attending Managers, has been sanctioned, provided no rights of the Hospital, legal or equitable, are waived by reason of such permission.

The expenditure of the two Departments for the Insane, irrespective of interest on the estimated value of buildings and grounds, amounts in actual cash outlay to $224,297 91, for the year ending 31st 12th mo. 1874. The amount paid for the maintenance of free insane patients was $22,980 56. In addition to this, a large sum has been charitably expended for those who do not pay the average cost per week required for the support of a patient.

In conclusion, after a year of abundant blessing from "the Giver of all good," we are happy to state that we believe it is in our power to exhibit in all Departments of your Permanent Hospital—in that for the Sick as well as those for the Insane—all valuable characteristics which have been yet devised for proper sanitary treatment of patients, and we hope in the future to maintain the high character achieved in the past, by the able management of the Pennsylvania Hospital.

The Board desire to express their public acknowledgment of the earnest gratuitous efforts of all the members of the Medical and Surgical Staffs in maintaining, under many circumstances of patient and painful trial, the efficient character of the service of your Hospital.

Respectfully submitted by the Board of Managers, 4th mo. 26th, 1875.
